Does the “528 Hertz Frequency of Love” soundwave actually heal you and open your life up to more love?

And if so: what makes this ONE soundwave so powerful?

{!firstname_fix} you should know that even...

Science Has Confirmed The “528 Hertz Frequency of Love” Soundwave To Be Extremely Powerful

528 Hz DNA repair: 528Hz is essential to the geometry of circles and spirals consistent with DNA structuring and hydrosonic restructuring. Evidence suggests that 528 Hz has the potential to positively affect cellular water clusters to assist in removing impurities to prevent sickness and disease.

After rigorous study of this ONE soundwave, researchers have concluded that it's a powerful healer and granter of love miracles.

These miracles include: Broken hearted people, who experienced tremendous heartache, betrayal or a messy break-up being restored back to their normal, upbeat self within minutes. Divorcees who were destined to be alone forever lucking into finding the love of their life, practically overnight. Bitter personalities experiencing a sudden transformation - going from living in a dark world to a world full with light and love.

As you can see, this ONE soundwave can free you of your past love wounds and open you up to a life with more love.

But what exactly makes the “528 Hertz Frequency of Love” soundwave so powerful at delivering healing transformations?

After all, it's just a soundwave, right?

How can ONE soundwave be so miraculous?

The reason the “528 Hertz Frequency of Love” soundwave is so miraculous is because of...

The Power Of Sound Healing

{!firstname_fix}, sound healing uses high frequency soundwaves to heal and restore an individual's physical and emotional well being.

Chances are you haven't heard much about sound healing before...

... but it's nothing new, {!firstname_fix}.

Evidence of using sound to heal dates back thousands of years to ancient Egyptians and Australia's Aborigines, plus it's found in every religion including Christianity, Hinduism and Buddhism...

In Ancient Egypt, sound therapy was a staple in temples

In Christianity, sound was used to remove evil spirits

In Native American culture, sounds were used to heal the sick

And even scientists of today are talking about the undeniable benefits of sound healing, which include a boost in immune function, reduced stress levels, a promotion in healing, and even a significant improvement in the health of premature babies!

And rightfully so, {!firstname_fix}...

Sound carries the ability to both heal and destroy.

But before you can fully understand this, you must first understand that everything in this Universe, including you is vibrating at a frequency...

... because you and everything around you is energy.

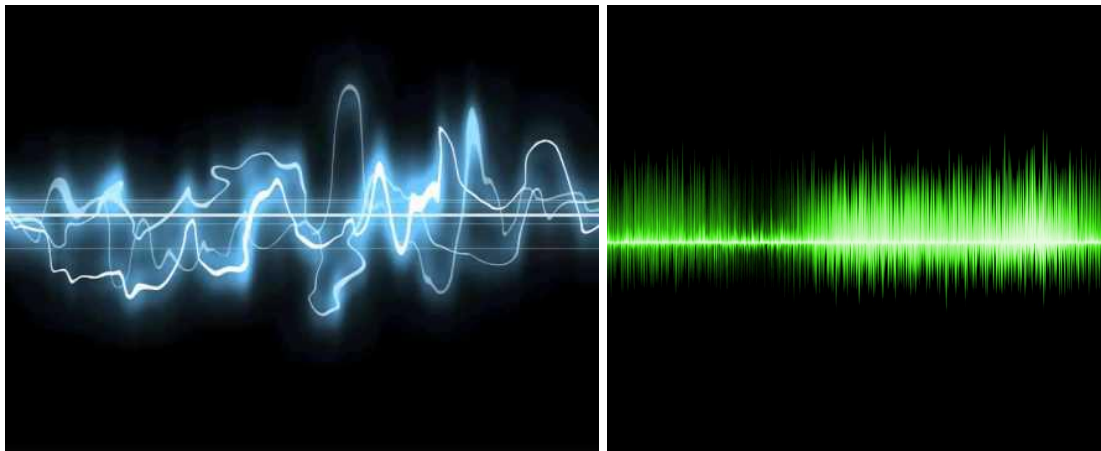

This is important because...

The frequency of the sounds you let into your consciousness determines how your body, mind and spirit vibrate and in return feel.

When you listen to high frequency sounds, your body vibrates at a higher frequency and the better you feel.

When you expose your senses to low frequency sounds, your body vibrates at a much lower frequency and the worse you feel - even leading to various illnesses.

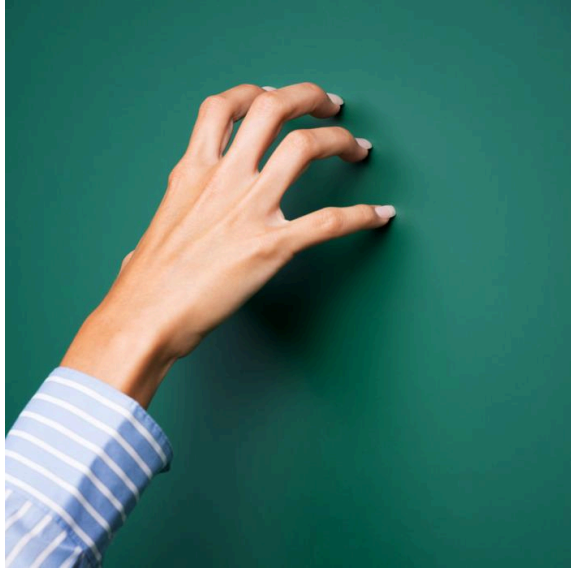

Common colds and flues are associated with lower frequencies such as 58Hz and cancer is associated with 42Hz. Whereas, a healthy body vibrates at a frequency of 62-68Hz.

This isn't theory or hypothetical, either. It's simple fact, {!firstname_fix}.

And you can prove it yourself by noticing how various sounds make you feel.

For example:

If you've ever found yourself cringing at the sound of nails on a chalkboard, it's because this is a low frequency sound designed to evoke irritation in you.

On the other hand, if you've ever found yourself feeling calm at the sound of rainfall (or the sound of "OM" during yoga), it's because this is a high frequency sound designed to induce peace in you.

As you can see, {!firstname_fix}...

Soundwaves are very powerful and different frequencies create different feelings in us.

Some frequencies heal and fill our hearts with love...

... whereas others fill us with fear and heartache!

This is why spiritual practices are full with chanting, musical instruments and high frequency soundwaves
- designed to induce compassion and uplift your spirit.

And why sound was used all throughout ancient civilizations!

{!firstname_fix} I'm telling you all this because sound healing is one of the easiest ways to heal past love wounds. And when it comes to using sound to heal past love wounds...

The 528 Hertz Frequency Of Love Is The Most Powerful Sound In The Universe

That's right, {!firstname_fix}.

If you're looking for a quick and easy way to heal all your past love wounds before your period of restructuring arrives, then you'll find no sound more powerful than the 528 Hertz Frequency of Love.

And that's because...

According to Latin dictionaries it is: “An extraordinary occurrence that surpasses all known human powers or natural forces and is ascribed to a divine or supernatural cause, esp. to God.”

But that's just the beginning, {!firstname_fix}...

The 528 Hertz Frequency of Love was introduced by Dr. Leonard Horowitz who found it to be at the core of the “Musical Mathematical Matrix of Creation”...

... and the ONLY frequency that vibrates at the same frequency of the energy of the Earth (528Hz frequency).

This is extremely significant because due to this high frequency, the 528 Hertz Soundwave is:

- One of the six frequencies on the Solfeggio scale used to promote healing and keep the body in perfect harmony!
- Considered the 'Miracle' note because it's responsible for bringing remarkable changes and extraordinary healing into one's life!
- Known to connect your heart, your spiritual essence, to all the love and joy in the universe!
- Proven to invoke healing while opening you up to enjoying a life with more love!
- Called the "Love Frequency" because it is found in the heart of everything!

It's thus no surprise why...
